BREAD, TOBACCO, ELECTRICITY TO BE PROBED

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION AT WORK IN MATTER

SENATE ORDERS INQUIRY TO SEE IF MONOPOLISTIC CONTROL IS EXERCISED

BREAD PROBE WAS INITIATED BY RESOLUTION BACKED BY SEN. LA FOLLETTE

(By United Press)
Washington, Feb. 10.—Bread, tobacco and electricity were the subjects of investigation by the Federal Trade commission today under order of the senate.

To learn whether it is true as charged that monopolies control the production and distribution of these three commodities, the senate voted to look into conditions in the industries.

The tobacco and electricity investigations were sanctioned by adoption of the Ernest and Norris resolutions. The bread probe previously was initiated by a resolution backed by Senator LaFollette.

The commission's task is to investigate specific charges as follows:

Bread: That the bakeries of the country are rapidly being swallowed by one gigantic baking corporation whose alleged control of prices costs the nation $500,000,000 a year in unwarranted bread prices.

Tobacco: That the American Tobacco Company and the Imperial Tobacco Company of London, by mutual agreement, boycotted southern tobacco farmers' co-operatives, buying their tobacco supplies elsewhere at higher prices, and that they agreed to let each other have absolute monopoly in their respective countries.

Electricity: That the General Electric Company is a gigantic power "trust" dominating every electric light bulb in the country through subsidiaries.

The commission will report its findings to the Department of Justice. If the department finds evidence of law violation appropriate action will be started.

COOLIDGE OPPOSES GEN. MITCHELL'S AIR PLAN CONSOLIDATION

(By United Press)
Washington, Feb. 10.—President Coolidge opposes Brigadier General Mitchell's proposal to unify the air services of the army, navy and post-office departments, the White House spokesman said today. He considers the proposal contrary to his policy for consolidation of the executive department and to the proposal made in the reorganization bill for unification of the war and navy departments. He considers aviation is an important adjunct to the nation's defenses and wants to see it developed by discussion and experimentation.

NEW YORK IN FOG; LOOKS LIKE LONDON TOWN

New York, Feb. 10.—So this is London. No, it's New York. For the second successive day this city was bathed in the heaviest fog of years. Minor traffic accidents were almost continuous and commuters who used the ferries were late to work again.

Elevated trains, seven of which were in trouble yesterday, in crashes that cost two lives and injured three score, ran at diminished speed. Harbor shipping still proceeded with caution. Unusually warm weather for mid-February accompanied the fog.

FOBES SUIT UP FOR HEARING FEBRUARY 21

The hearing on the permanent injunction asked in district court of Clay county by the Minnesota Potato Growers exchange to prevent A. L. Fobes of Glyndon from disposing of any of his potatoes except through the exchange will be heard at Moorhead Feb. 21. The case was originally set for Feb. 7 but by agreement between attorneys, a postponement was granted.

Rescuers Now Claimed to be 22 Feet From Collins

Footless Student, Who Sleeps Only 90 Minutes a Day, Puzzles Doctors

Anderson Fry, 20-year-old student at Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va., has had a maximum of ten hours sleep a week in the last five years since he lost his feet in a railroad accident. Psychiatrists are endeavoring to learn how he manages to get along and feel normal on 90 minutes sleep a day. He sits up most of the night but cannot study much as it makes him nervous. From Feb. 1 to 11 he went without any sleep, but at the end of that time he felt drowsy and resumed his 1½ hour sleep schedule.

TWO BROOKS FIELD CADETS FALL TO DEATH IN TEXAS

(By United Press)
San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 10.—With flames spurting from their plane two Brooks field cadets fell to their death today. They left the field at about 10 o'clock this morning. The bodies were so badly burned that they have not been identified.

San Antonio, Feb. 10.—Dashing to earth while a cloud of smoke poured from the exhaust of their Curtiss training plane, First Lieut. Arthur L. Foster and Major Lee I. Wright were killed here today. Both bodies were badly burned.

Wright's mother lives at Lyons, Kan.

FIRE SWEEPS CROOKSTON LBR. CO. PLANING MILL

LOSS OF BEMIDJI COMPANY ESTIMATED AT ABOUT $75,000

PLANT IS ONE OF SHEVLIN-CARPENTER-CLARK PROPERTIES

(By United Press)
Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 10.—Another fire today destroyed the planing mill of the Crookston Lumber company here with loss estimated at $75,000.

Last November fire consumed lumber yards with loss estimated at $750,000.

The blaze started under one of the big planing machines and spread rapidly. Fanned by a strong north wind, the blaze destroyed the mill before firemen were able to concentrate on the building. Their efforts were devoted to saving adjoining buildings.

The plant is one of the many Shevlin-Carpenter-Clark properties.

Washington, Feb. 10.—President Coolidge has chosen I. A. Caswell, former Republican national committeeman as collector of customs at St. Paul, it was said at the White House today. Another position will be found on William J. Williamson of Minneapolis, who was recommended for the position by Senator-elect Tom Schall, the White House spokesman said.

GIRLS OF '41 CAUSED PARENTS LOTS OF TROUBLE

EVERY BIT AS MUCH AS THE FLAPPERS OF TODAY

WORLD IS NOT GROWING WORSE, SAYS REV. LEVI A. BRENNER

(By United Press)
Chippewa Falls, Wis., Feb. 10.—The girls of '41 were as much trouble to their parents as the flapper of today, Dr. Levi A. Brenner, Methodist pastor, declared today.

"The world is not growing worse," he asserted.

Dr. Brenner read a letter written in 1841 which revealed that parents had the same problems with wayward daughters and ambitious sons as they do today.

"Social conditions were as bad in 1841 as they are now," he said.

Referring to the recent Stanley high school scandal in which a number of young girls were arraigned in secret in juvenile court, Rev. Brenner said:

"A well-organized vice ring comprised of adult men worked the downfall of the girls."

CONVICTED BOOTLEGGERS AID PROSECUTION

FEDERAL COURT TRIAL CONCLUDES ATLANTA, GA., PRISON

CHARGE MADE SPECIAL FAVORS GRANTED CERTAIN PRISONERS

(By United Press)
Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 10.—Convicted bootleggers aided the prosecution today in the federal court trial of three men charged with granting favors and special privileges to certain prisoners at Atlanta penitentiary for pay.

They were to testify against A. E. Sartain and L. J. Fletcher, deposed warden and deputy warden of the prison, and Lawrence Riehl, close friend of Sartain and named as a go-between.

The convicts who confessed they paid $10,500 for easy tasks and special meals and living quarters, were Willie and Fred Haar and others of Savannah. Mannie Kessler, convicted bootlegger of New York and George Remus, Cincinnati, may also testify.

Rev. Thomas P. Hayden, who was forced to resign his post as prison chaplain following a probe of prison affairs by the department of justice, furnished the high light at yesterday's session. The priest admitted going to Savannah with Riehl and getting $10,500 from the Haar brothers. Of this sum Hayden admitted receiving $2,100.

COMMUNISTS AND CATHOLICS IN BLOODY CLASHES

(By United Press)
Marseilles, France, Feb. 10.—Casualties in last night's clash between Communists and Catholics when the former attempted to break up a meeting presided over by General De Castellan proved today to be more than was at first apparent. One hundred persons were more or less seriously injured. Four persons were badly beaten.

The Catholic meeting was to have been one of protest against the Herriot government's action in abolishing the Vatican embassy and the Communists massed to interfere. A free-for-all fight in which police overwhelmed the rioters ensued.

NAVAJO INDIANS ON THE WARPATH AGAINST WHITES

(By United Press)
Albuquerque, N. M., Feb. 10, 3 P. M.—A group of Navajo Indian braves, approximately 100 in number, were reported to have assembled near Cuba, N. M., 90 miles north of here, today, preparatory to a war of extermination against white homesteaders in that region.

Reports from that town said the Indian braves were in arms to avenge the killing yesterday of an Indian by Constable Ed Blanchfield, of Cuba.

HOUSE PASSES NEW POSTAL BILL WITH SALARY RAISE

(By United Press)
Washington, Feb. 10, 3 P. M.—The House today passed the new postal pay and rate increase bill. It increases rates to raise $60,000,000 more a year and is approved by President Coolidge.

Salaries of postal workers will be raised by $68,000,000 annually. The bill now goes to the Senate. There was no record vote.

DUBBED MOST ARRESTED MAN IN THE COUNTRY

(By United Press)
Pierre, S. D., Feb. 10.—A. E. Ewert, former state treasurer, treasurer of the state rural credit board, and president of the National Bank of Commerce here, wondered today on what new charge he might be arrested.

Political and financial activities have brought upon him considerable trouble and he has been dubbed the most arrested man in the country.

He was cited by the legislature for contempt and was sentenced to jail for the rest of the legislative session. Then he was informed that he need not serve. A few minutes later he was arrested on charges of contempt of the state supreme court for failure to obey a writ of mandamus issued by the court ordering him not to deposit contrary to law money of the rural credits department in banks in excess of 40 per cent of the capital and surplus of those banks. He was taken before Judge C. S. Poeley and hearing was set before the supreme court for Friday.

PRES. COOLIDGE AT NORSE - AMERICAN CENTENNIAL FESTIVAL

(By United Press)
Washington, Feb. 10.—President Coolidge will visit St. Paul and Minneapolis June 8 to make an address at the celebration of the Norse-American centennial.

The president today accepted the invitation extended by Representative Kvale of Minnesota and Prof. Gisle Bothe of the University of Minnesota.

TO INVESTIGATE CHARGES OF IMPROPER CONDUCT

(By United Press)
Washington, Feb. 10.—The House judiciary committee today adopted a report of its sub-committee recommending that charges of improper conduct against George W. English, federal judge in East St. Louis, should be investigated.

EARTHQUAKE OF MILD FORCE IN SAN FRANCISCO

(By United Press)
San Francisco, Feb. 10.—An earthquake of mild force and brief duration shook the San Francisco Bay region shortly after midnight.

Seismographers at the University of California and Santa Clara University were examining their instruments today to determine the severity and scope of the shock.

MEN AND DOGS MUSH TO NOME WITH ANTI-TOXIN

TEMPERATURES OF 50 TO 52 DEGREES BELOW ZERO REIGN

DASH BY AIRPLANE WILL HAVE TO BE ABANDONED

(By United Press)
Anchorage, Alaska, Feb. 10.—Men and dogs mushed northward today on another errand of mercy with anti-toxin for diphtheria sufferers at Nome, while Capt. Roy Darling and his mechanics tried vainly to get their plane ready for flight with additional medical supplies.

Indications today were that the flight might be abandoned because of the bitter cold.

Temperatures of 50 to 52 degrees below zero prevailed here and throughout the Nenana River country today, while the dog sleds with 500,000 units of anti-toxin mushed steadily toward Nome. The other half million units consignment has been packed ready to be loaded on the plane. If plans for the dash by air are abandoned the remaining shipment of serum will be sent to Nome by dog-sled.

BIG PROBLEM BEFORE THE STATE LEGISLATURE TODAY

REORGANIZATION OF STATE GOVERNMENT IS THE THEME

SOME CLAIM PLAN GIVES GOVERNOR TOO MUCH POWER

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Feb. 10.—The legislature today was down to the biggest problems of the session.

Hearings were started on the program for reorganization of the state government. W. I. Nolan, lieutenant-governor, will appear before the house committee on civil administration tomorrow morning to explain the bills prepared by the house interim committee, of which he and Governor Christianson were members. The bill was introduced in both houses late yesterday.

Reorganization plans likely will be toned down considerably before it is reported out of committee. Hearings are expected to continue at least three weeks. Already feeling is being expressed among legislators that the plan provides the governor with too much power. No one has expressed doubt of the governor but some fear trouble may come from extending the powers to some future executive.

Gasoline tax legislation is due for action. A sub-committee of the house motor vehicle committee will make recommendations tomorrow for action on two bills. The favored one was supported by the state oil inspection department and provides for a tax of 2 cents a gallon with a refund in cases where the gasoline is to be used for other than vehicular purposes.

Tonight there will be a public hearing in the house chamber on the child labor amendment to the federal constitution. Proponents of the amendment are asking for the Minnesota legislature to act on the amendment as a matter of record even though the amendment now appears to be rejected.

Farmer-labor members of the legislature got busy on their program today and plan to introduce bills which would increase the occupation tax on iron ore to 10 per cent and another which would increase the royalties tax to 10 per cent.

A bill which would close public dance halls at 1 a. m. was passed by

Walter S. Gifford, New Head of 2 Billion Dollar Public Utility Company

Gifford, just turned forty, recently was elected president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the two-billion-dollar concern which ranks first among the world's public utility enterprises. He has been connected with the Bell Telephone system during virtually all of his business career and has served it actively except for a period of two years during the war when he was lent to the government to organize the Council of National Defense, being its director until after the armistice. Gifford was born in Salem, Mass., in 1885 and was graduated from Harvard in 1905.

PARLIAMENT RE-ASSEMBLED IN LONDON TODAY

(By United Press)
London, Feb. 10.—Parliament reassembled this afternoon.

There was the usual scramble for choice seats in the House of Commons. Dawn found a number of silk-hatted M. P.'s shivering on the doorsteps. Lady Astor, who always is insistent upon obtaining a good seat, arrived breathlessly about 7:30 a. m.

When the doors opened there was a spirited rush for the desired locations, which were marked by numbered hats, after which all went to breakfast.

Minor domestic matters were on the House calendar for today, with consideration of supplementary estimates, 30 in number, to come up tomorrow.

DISTORTED MIND MAY HAVE CAUSED PILL POISONING

EXPERT PSYCHIATRISTS AT COLUMBUS, O., EXAMINE WITNESSES

LOUIS FISH ADMITS OBTAINING PILLS, NOT KNOWING THEY CONTAINED STRYCHNINE

(By United Press)
Columbus, O., Feb. 10.—Expert psychiatrists today examined Louis Fish, 19, to determine whether his is the distorted mind at the root of the strychnine poisonings at Ohio State university.

Fish, a freshman from Canton, has admitted obtaining the pills which caused the death of David Puskin, fellow-student, but insists he did not know they contained strychnine.

He was arrested late last night just after Police Prosecutor John J. Chester was completing his examination of students in the pharmacy department, where the poison capsules were known to have been given out.

The house and sent to the senate. The vote was 92 to 31.

The senate finance committee has lopped nearly $300,000 from requests of various state institutions for appropriations and has held the total to $7,599,950 for the biennium, nearly $800,000 less than it was two years ago.

BELIEVED THAT IMPRISONED MAN IS STILL ALIVE

REPEATED ELECTRICAL TESTS SO MADE DURING THE NIGHT

MARTIAL COURT OF INQUIRY TO EXAMINE CONDITIONS OF IMPRISONMENT

(By United Press)
At the Mouth of Sand Cave, Ky., Feb. 10.—Still 22 feet from the cell where Floyd Collins lies, rescue crews entered their work today with the renewed conviction that the victim was still alive.

Repeated electrical tests through the night indicated that Collins lives. While workmen bored on, a martial court of inquiry under orders of Governor William J. Fields was assembling here to probe conditions surrounding Collins' imprisonment.

J. Lewis Williams, county prosecutor, planned to attend the inquiry and if testimony warrants action a special grand jury will be called to return indictments.

Such were the activities on the twelfth day of Collins' imprisonment. Dr. W. H. Hazlett, Chicago specialist, asserted he was positive Collins still lives.

COURT MARTIAL TAKES TESTIMONY

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 10.—"Floyd Collins told me he is in the only entrance to Sand Cave. There is no way out from the rear. I never did think we could get him out."

That was the testimony of William B. Miller, newspaper reporter of Louisville, before the court-martial inquiry today. The court-martial was called on orders from Governor William J. Fields. Miller was the first witness summoned. He said he had conversed with Collins while the latter lay in the grip of the boulder that has kept him prisoner for 12 days.

The court martial probably will adjourn to Sand Cave seven miles away to examine other witnesses.

While the court calls other witnesses, diggers are slowly shoveling their way into the shaft where Collins lies. They have dug about 33 of the 60 feet they must gouge to affect his release. They expect to reach the explorer Thursday.

"I am satisfied there is no fake to Collins' imprisonment," Miller testified. "I heard him answer his brother Homer when the latter called down to him. I know that he was pinned so that he could not get out. I believe that all these rumors about it being a publicity stunt are unfounded."

Miller remarked that he believed certain local people wanted to keep another faction from freeing Collins. "I heard John Gerald tell others to keep out of the cave for he would get him out himself," Miller said. "We placed a jack under the rock that held Collins and moved it a little. That helped him."

Members of the court said Miller's testimony convinced them Collins must be brought out through the new shaft being sunk by diggers.

A report from the cave during the hearing said the new opening would strike Collins' channel and provide a new access to him.

FLUE KILLS SCORES ON ISLAND NEAR IRELAND

Dublin, Feb. 10.—A wasting influenza fever has claimed scores of victims on Achill Island, off the coast of County Mayo, where 7,000 inhabitants are suffering from partial starvation and are eking out a sort of existence on dry bread and water.

Ruin of the potato crop due to the excessive rains of fall and winter has been a particularly severe blow to the inhabitants of the west coast islands such as that of Achill.

Doctors and nurses are being sent to fight the fever.

EXPERT PSYCHIATRISTS AT COLUMBUS, O., EXAMINE WITNESSES

LOUIS FISH ADMITS OBTAINING PILLS, NOT KNOWING THEY CONTAINED STRYCHNINE

(By United Press) Columbus, O., Feb. 10.—Expert psychiatrists today examined Louis Fish, 19, to determine whether his is the distorted mind at the root of the strychnine poisonings at Ohio State university.

Fish, a freshman from Canton, has admitted obtaining the pills which caused the death of David Puskin, fellow-student, but insists he did not know they contained strychnine.

He was arrested late last night just after Police Prosecutor John J. Chester was completing his examination of students in the pharmacy department, where the poison capsules were known to have been given out.

The house and sent to the senate. The vote was 92 to 31.

The senate finance committee has lopped nearly $300,000 from requests of various state institutions for appropriations and has held the total to $7,599,950 for the biennium, nearly $800,000 less than it was two years ago.

BELIEVED THAT IMPRISONED MAN IS STILL ALIVE

REPEATED ELECTRICAL TESTS SO MADE DURING THE NIGHT

MARTIAL COURT OF INQUIRY TO EXAMINE CONDITIONS OF IMPRISONMENT

(By United Press) At the Mouth of Sand Cave, Ky., Feb. 10.—Still 22 feet from the cell where Floyd Collins lies, rescue crews entered their work today with the renewed conviction that the victim was still alive.

Repeated electrical tests through the night indicated that Collins lives.

While workmen bored on a martial court of inquiry under orders of Governor William J. Fields was assembling here to probe conditions surrounding Collins' imprisonment.

J. Lewis Williams, county prosecutor, planned to attend the inquiry and if testimony warrants action a special grand jury will be called to return indictments.

Such were the activities on the twelfth day of Collins' imprisonment.

Dr. W. H. Hazlett, Chicago specialist, asserted he was positive Collins still lives.

COURT MARTIAL TAKES TESTIMONY

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 10.—"Floyd Collins told me he is in the only entrance to Sand Cave. There is no way out from the rear. I never did think we could get him out."

That was the testimony of William B. Miller, newspaper reporter of Louisville, before the court-martial inquiry today. The court-martial was called on orders from Governor William J. Fields. Miller was the first witness summoned. He said he had conversed with Collins while the latter lay in the grip of the boulder that has kept him prisoner for 12 days.

The court martial probably will adjourn to Sand Cave seven miles away to examine other witnesses.

While the court calls other witnesses, diggers are slowly shoveling their way into the shaft where Collins lies. They have dug about 33 of the 66 feet they must gouge to affect his release. They expect to reach the explorer Thursday.

"I am satisfied there is no fake to Collins' imprisonment," Miller testified. "I heard him answer his brother Homer when the latter called down to him. I know that he was pinned so that he could not get out. I believe that all these rumors about it being a publicity stunt are unfounded."

Miller remarked that he believed certain local people wanted to keep another faction from freeing Collins.

"I heard John Gerald tell others to keep out of the cave for he would get him out himself," Miller said. "We placed a jack under the rock that held Collins and moved it a little. That helped him."

Members of the court said Miller's testimony convinced them Collins must be brought out through the new shaft being sunk by diggers.

A report from the cave during the hearing said the new opening would strike Collins' channel and provide a new access to him.

FLUE KILLS SCORES ON ISLAND NEAR IRELAND

Dublin, Feb. 10.—A wasting influenza fever has claimed scores of victims on Achill Island, off the coast of County Mayo, where 7,000 inhabitants are suffering from partial starvation and are eking out a sort of existence on dry bread and water.

Ruin of the potato crop due to the excessive rains of fall and winter has been a particularly severe blow to the inhabitants of the west coast islands such as that of Achill.

Doctors and nurses are being sent to fight the fever.

CHAFF FROM THE GRIST AT THE CAPITOL

(By United Press)

Washington, Feb. 10.—The irrepressible Senator Borah must have given President Coolidge a shock the other night at the dinner at which the President entertained the Senate foreign relations committee to discuss the Lausanne treaty.

Borah, so the story goes, listened attentively to a long talk given by Richard Washburn Child, former ambassador to Italy, who negotiated the pact on why this country should ratify it speedily—it would promote world peace, world commerce, and so forth.

When he had concluded, Borah arose, as chairman of the committee, to respond. In effect he said: "Yes, those are good arguments and I am for the treaty. Furthermore, every argument made by Mr. Child is an argument for recognition to Russia—it would promote world peace, world commerce and so forth. I am consistent, I am for Russian recognition for those reasons and hence I am for the Lausanne treaty."

The diplomatic corps has a new dean in Senor Riano, Ambassador from Spain, now that Jules Jusserand has gone back to France, but in one respect there is no change—the doyen is still an American woman. Madame Jusserand was American and Senora Riano was Miss Alice Ward of an old and distinguished American family of that name. She is extremely well liked among the diplomats and residential Washington, too. The Rianos have been noted for their democratic ways. Though they have been retiring and reserved, they have made friends in all levels of society, playing no favorites.

The Capital had its oyster scare this winter like many other cities and on many prominent tables usually graced by the oyster it was not to be found. Lettuce likewise became taboo because of the general suspicion that it might share with the oyster the blame for the typhoid epidemic in the east.

Local oyster men hit on a spectacular way to prove the suspicion ill founded. They sent out invitations to every newspaperman in Washington, and most of the doctors, to come to an oyster party with every bivalve free and all one could eat. Not only did they set a spread, but they got up in public before the crowd and ate their own brands of oysters and to prove they weren't afraid of the other fellow's—ate some of his, too.

The new Senator Bingham, Connecticut Republican, has a political skeleton in his closet. He is proud of his reputation as an explorer, writer, mountain climber and aviator in the world war, but don't ask him about the book he wrote on relations with Latin American countries called: "The Monroe Doctrine—an Obsolete Shibboleth." As a Republican senator attached to a Republican administration, Bingham does not intend to call his book to the attention of Secretary Hughes, who regards the Monroe Doctrine in much the same light as he regards the Bible.

Plead Guilty to Transporting Liquor

RE-ARRESTED ON STATE CHARGE
Charles Gunion's Home Raided, He
Pleads Guilty to Liquor
Nuisance Charge

In municipal court David LaDoux and William Leech, charged with transporting liquor, and arrested as an ordinance violation, plead guilty. LaDoux was fined $100 or 90 days in jail, and Leech was fined $25 or 20 days in jail.

Both of these men were then re-arrested on a state charge for the same offense, and their cases continued until Thursday morning. Bonds in each case being set at $100.

Charles Gunion was arraigned and plead guilty to a liquor nuisance charge. He was fined $100 or 90 days, and in addition sentenced to pay a suspended sentence hanging over him from a previous charge, of $50.

The officers who made the raid on Gunion's home Friday night found a 50-gallon barrel cleverly concealed behind the stone wall in the basement, together with a three-gallon keg. The keg is said to have been filled with liquor, and 10 gallons were found in the barrel. A pipe from the barrel extended through the wall and was hidden from view by a shelf carrying fruit jars.

BOXER REBELLION REVIEWED

During Social Hour Following Reading of Papers, Refreshments
Were Served

The meeting of the missionary society of the First Congregational church, held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. P. Slipp, proved very interesting and profitable.

The leader, Mrs. Robert Duerr, first read the verse, "But when the blade was sprung up, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also," and in making the application to "The Tares" chapter IV of "Ming-Kwong" called attention to the Boxer rebellion of 1900.

Going into history, Mrs. Duerr, very concisely told of the cause of the Boxer uprising and the results, first stating that there is every evidence that the first Europeans who reached China during the Middle Ages were well received. But in the Sixteenth century the Portuguese and other European pirates ravaged the coast of China, often destroying houses and carrying away men, women and children as slaves. Thus the Chinese came to look upon all foreigners as their foes, calling the barbarians and "foreign devils."

But the nations of the world kept tapping at the door of China and finally by the treaty of Nanking, 1842, five treaty ports were opened to foreign trade. This was followed by twelve missionary societies in China.

China's objection to the foreign traders arose partly from the fact that it was strongly suspected that these nations were trying to gain a foothold on Chinese territory. That these fears were not groundless is seen from the fact that it was not long until Russia, England, Portugal, France and Germany had succeeded in securing or forcing port concessions. This has since been called, "A wild game of grab" and these incursions were very hateful and humiliating to the Chinese people, culminating in the Boxer outbreak, in which one hundred and eighty-eight foreigners, including missionaries were killed, and 10,000 Chinese Christians.

When the armies of eight different nations appeared in Peking, the Boxer uprising was put down and within a year after this 373 new missionaries had pressed forward from America, Europe and Great Britain; and the Chinese themselves were crowding into the schools and churches as they had never done before.

Others followed on the program and in reference to Congregational missionaries who gave their lives in the rebellion, particular mention was made of Miss Mary Morrill, of the city of Pao-ting-fum North China, who in offering her life to the Boxers that they would spare the lives of her friends, made a deep impression on a young soldier of the imperial army. "There is a woman," said he, "who is a real Christian, she practices every word she says. I never dreamed there could be a person so full of love for others. She is like the Christ of the Christians, who, they say, suffered death on the cross to save the world from sin. The time is coming when I shall have to be a Christian. I cannot resist a religion like this."

Some time after, when at a meeting in Peking, led by Dr. John R. Mott, this officer became a Christian and went out a soldier of the cross and today he is General Feng Yuhsiang, who with his far famed "Christian Army" figures so prominently in the war of China.

Other topics noted, showed Chinese pastor, after the rebellion, going to a town to preach to the murderers of his family, while other instances of rare Christian character were shown in connection with Ming-Kwong. There was much rejoicing there in 1901 among the missionaries when the first woman doctor made her appearance, while amusing incidents related by the itinerating doctors, showed increased belief in the foreigners' "Magie."

One of life's tragedies showed the marriage of one of the brightest students in Ming-Kwong school to a worthless, ignorant opium addict, a man to whom she was betrothed in infancy.

The program closed with a simultaneous reading, showing the development in education of women in China. During the social hour which followed, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. R. J. Hartley.

Izaak Walton League Dominant Organization

According to Fred H. Doellner, Winona, secretary of the state division, the Izaak Walton League has become the dominant conservation agency in Minnesota, and is spreading to all parts of the state.

"There is before the present legislature," said Mr. Doellner, "a bill to authorize Congress to purchase bottom lands of the Mississippi river below Lake Pepin to the Iowa line. This is the result of the work of the League in having congress designate three hundred miles of river bottom as the Upper Mississippi Wild Life and Fish Refuge."

"This gives some idea of the work the League is doing. The Minnesota division is especially active just at present. Chapters are being formed constantly. We are on the way to really safeguard the great outdoor wealth that is Minnesota's gold mine."

Minnesota should have a strong conservation organization, Mr. Doellner pointed out, for this reason. "It is a question not only of sentiment but of dollars and cents," he said, "that is leading to the necessity for such action."

All officers of the Walton League serve without pay. It is non-commercial, non-religious, and non-political.

Officers of the Minnesota division are Dietrich Lange, St. Paul, president; Dean Rundlet, Minneapolis, first vice-president; M. Roberts, of Two Harbors, second vice-president; and Mr. Doellner, secretary and treasurer.

Its directorate includes some of the best known sportsmen in the state. New chapters have been organized recently at Clearbrook, Remer, Zumbrota, Stillwater, Blackduck, Alexandria, Moose Lake, Willmar, Bagley and Crookston.

Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts of Brainerd, is placing on exhibit at DeSmidt's Soda Grill a display of Scout craft in its various branches, which should be of special interest to everyone who has followed local Scouting.

Earl Jamieson, scribe of Troop No. 1, advises that the week of February 8 to 14 is National Boy Week, and his troop, wishing to commemorate in some fitting way this event, decided that a display of its handiwork was an excellent manner of doing so.

The work represented in the display gives a fair idea of the knowledge that a boy obtains of the various crafts taught in Scouting. Not only does he learn a great many other helpful things that are the very foundation of American manhood, but he accomplishes these things.

Troop No. 1 hopes that a great many parents of Brainerd boys will view this exhibit and that it will be the means of bringing many boys into Scouting who will benefit materially by the teachings of this organization.

The troop appreciates Mr. DeSmidt's generosity in giving space for its exhibit in his store, and a vote of thanks has been extended to him for his kindness.

NO SHOW WHEN PARLIAMENT MET AFTER LONG RECESS

(By United Press)

London, Feb. 10.—Devoid of the usual pomp and fanfare of a new year's reassembly, Parliament quietly reconvened today after a "Christmas" recess of nearly two months.

The lack of a state opening was conspicuous for London dearly loves pageantry and the ceremonial of such a procession, the marching bodyguards of picturesque Beefeaters and Grenadiers, the general display of regal trappings.

Normally, hundreds of thousands of eager spectators would have waited for hours this forenoon, jammed, but patient, for a glimpse of the parade somewhere between Buckingham Palace and the House of Parliament.

But today's is not a normal occasion. The 1925 session actually began last December. Resigning as a result of the October general election, the first Labor government left a number of legislative odds and ends which had to be cleaned up before the end of the calendar year. The incoming administration had two alternatives—Prorogation immediately after the post-election re-assembly in December or formal commencement of the new session at once with all the trimmings of a state opening. It chose the latter because of the press of emergency legislation.

Today therefore, saw one of the rare occasions when a British parliament reassembled with the utmost modesty for the first session of a new year.

The simplicity of the proceeding rather belied its significance. Today's resumed session is destined to show definitely for the first time what can or will be done by a British legislature in which the Tories have the strongest majority they have possessed for more than a hundred years.

SUFFERING MINNESOTA

UNDER this title, "Suffering Minnesota," the Minneapolis Journal early mail edition of Monday carried an illuminating editorial, in which reference is made to Brainerd and its plight:

Minnesota this last decade has been stretched on the literary rack. The thumb-screws have been applied. Sinclair Lewis started it all with his Gopher Prairie, supposed to have been located in this State, and, because this brilliant young writer came out of Sauk Center, that vigorous little city has been held to be the real site of Main Street. Of course, it was not, necessarily. The tide of Main Street flows in any part of the Country, pretty broad and deep, and Iowa and Kansas towns felt themselves as hard hit as did any sensitive town in Minnesota. There was uneasiness in the cities, too. Considerable "small song" was heard and a desire was shown to "do something about it." But, as Mark Twain noted of the weather, everybody complained, but nothing was done about it. Minnesotans touring abroad, when quizzed about Main Street, disclaimed everything.

Then came George F. Babbitt and his urban activities in Zenith, and the cities in their turn had their toll of trouble and hard feeling. Was Zenith Duluth, Minneapolis or St. Paul? Anyhow, everyone thought he knew Babbitt. Main Street and Babbitt complexes were developed in many quarters, but the kind assumption of these burdens by so many other sister States and sister cities helped us to bear these literary stigmas patiently.

When a Minnesota poet developed a line of Indian lyrics and submitted them to an Eastern publisher, the latter drew up both hands. "Minnesota? Main Street? Not!" Investigation was made of the poet's genealogical antecedents and they were found to be Russian. That would do very well. Our Main Street poet now has a following in some quarters as a Russian poet. Main Street does not flow through Russian cities, and it is possible for the Russian poet to subsist and carry on.

Then came the frightful shock to Brainerd, Minn. A radio magazine described that flourishing community as churchless and art-less, with none of the softening assistance of civilization, but depending entirely for its culture and for its touch with the outside world upon the radio. The moan of agony that went up from this flourishing Minnesota city still echoes and re-echoes here and there. Upon investigation, the radio publication took it all back and made proper apology, but the scar, as broad and deep as the trench of Main Street across Sauk Center, still remains.

And worse remains to be told. The Hibbing, Minn., News is having a terrible time and much sympathy for the place where it is published is expressed in the press of Gopher Prairie and Zenith and Brainerd, Minn. The New York World sent a woman to Hibbing to write up the famous million-dollar high school of the richest village in the known world. She described it as an Aladdin's palace of unspeakable wealth and splendor. Among other things she said of it:

It doesn't seem to belong there. * * * It is splendid as a cathedral. It's a gorgeous extravaganza built out of dreams and ideals of people, who, perhaps, have missed candle-light and evening clothes in their youth. It is a white elephant in the land of the buffalo. * * * A gloriously childish expression of newly acquired riches.

It is Hibbing's turn to do an excited and perturbed dance and to lift strong protest to high heaven. And it is doing that very thing.

Yes, we have been stretched on the literary rack here in Minnesota of recent years. As Indiana was the victim of the persiflage "Indiana authors" the decade before, so now Minnesota is chosen for the stake, and the fagots are heaped about her and the literati of other States are dancing about, waving tomahawks and throwing knives. But let us take heart of grace. We are doing very well in Minnesota notwithstanding. We have a faith in her "that will not shrink, though pressed by every foe." In a year or two some other State or community will offer itself an unwilling victim of the searcher for "local color," and the outcry of other victims will strike the astonished stars perhaps above Iowa or Illinois, or Oregon or California.

We repeat it, no harm has been done. Perhaps, even, a little free advertising may be claimed.

AN ODD REVERSION

THE desolate sand dunes of the Indiana shore beyond Chicago were the scene of a tragedy. There Alice Gray, once a brilliant student at the University of Chicago, had lived for years with her husband, an engineer of considerable talent. Both turned their backs on civilization and eked out an existence on the windswept dunes, living in their shack.

She died as she had lived, refusing to leave the unkempt shack for a hospital. Shortly before she died she whispered to her husband to burn her body and scatter the ashes from the highest dune of the Indiana shore.

Education is of little value unless it is made use of. The years she spent at the University of Chicago, the years he spent gaining a technical education, were certainly not of any advantage to their fellow men when they buried their talents and lived a hermit life on the sand dunes, both deserting civilization.

If they wished hardships, seclusion, etc., both could have used their talents most successfully in works of exploration to benefit the race. But merely living in a sand dune waste all by themselves must have been an utter squandering of education. Their's must have been a cross current of life.

To be efficient as an agent for the enforcement of the Volstead act, one needs more than ordinary intelligence, more than ordinary courage and at least the ordinary power to resist the temptation to betray the law which enforcement agents are steadily and plentifully subjected to, says the Dallas News.

And all of this expected and generally forthcoming at the ordinary average salary of $1,680 accorded such agents. According to Representative Cramton of Michigan, this average salary must be increased if there is to be any hope of an efficient and honest enforcement of the Volstead law.

Sheriff Coulter in executing the order of the court to destroy liquor confiscated in raids and used in evidence, poured some of the liquor in a washstand bowl. It was later discovered the liquor had eaten holes in the pipes.

THERE used to be a time when federal prisoners faced little work in the prisons. Have you ever watched parents and fond relatives wandering about aimlessly in the toy department of big stores? They finger this toy and that, worriedly, and finally end by buying something—anything—at the counter that is least crowded.

Such parents lose a great opportunity by neglecting a chance to help their children. A toy is part of a child's education. Just as educators choose textbooks, considering carefully the needs of the child, so should the parent choose toys, writes Ferdinand Strauss, toy manufacturer, in the Popular Science Monthly. For toys should be chosen that will encourage children to think and develop their latent powers.

"America makes toys that teach something, because it has advanced further in the field of child psychology than any other country in the world, and the psychologists have demonstrated that children learn while they play."

"Not long ago I read a story about Orville and Wilbur Wright. When they were little boys in Ohio, their favorite toys were kites and balloons. In playing with them, though, they never dreamed that they would be the men to accomplish through their airplanes the conquest of the air."

The gift of a folding pocket footrule, he says, gave him a big thrill, and with his tools he made toys and useful articles for the house. In the heart of a jungle, hundreds of miles from any source of supplies, a man without ability for construction is almost helpless. Carl Akeley is not, for as a boy he possessed a tool chest."

SUFFERING MINNESOTA

UNDER this title, "Suffering Minnesota," the Minneapolis Journal early mail edition of Monday carried an illuminating editorial, in which reference is made to Brainerd and its plight:

Minnesota this last decade has been stretched on the literary rack. The thumb-screws have been applied. Sinclair Lewis started it all with his Gopher Prairie, supposed to have been located in this State, and, because this brilliant young writer came out of Sauk Center, that vigorous little city has been held to be the real site of Main Street. Of course, it was not, necessarily. The tide of Main Street flows in any part of the Country, pretty broad and deep, and Iowa and Kansas towns felt themselves as hard hit as did any sensitive town in Minnesota. There was uneasiness in the cities, too. Considerable "small song" was heard and a desire was shown to "do something about it." But, as Mark Twain noted of the weather, everybody complained, but nothing was done about it. Minnesotans touring abroad, when quizzed about Main Street, disclaimed everything.

Then came George F. Babbitt and his urban activities in Zenith, and the cities in their turn had their toll of trouble and hard feeling. Was Zenith Duluth, Minneapolis or St. Paul? Anyhow, everyone thought he knew Babbitt. Main Street and Babbitt complexes were developed in many quarters, but the kind assumption of these burdens by so many other sister States and sister cities helped us to bear these literary stigmas patiently.

When a Minnesota poet developed a line of Indian lyrics and submitted them to an Eastern publisher, the latter threw up both hands. "Minnesota? Main Street? No!" Investigation was made of the poet's genealogical antecedents and they were found to be Russian. That would do very well. Our Main Street poet now has a following in some quarters as a Russian poet. Main Street does not flow through Russian cities, and it is possible for the Russian poet to subsist and carry on.

Then came the frightful shock to Brainerd, Minn. A radio magazine described that flourishing community as churchless and art-less, with none of the softening assistance of civilization, but depending entirely for its culture and for its touch with the outside world upon the radio. The moan of agony that went up from this flourishing Minnesota city still echoes and re-echoes here and there. Upon investigation, the radio publication took it all back and made proper apology, but the scar, as broad and deep as the trench of Main Street across Sauk Center, still remains.

And worse remains to be told. The Hibbing, Minn., News is having a terrible time and much sympathy for the place where it is published is expressed in the press of Gopher Prairie and Zenith and Brainerd, Minn. The New York World sent a woman to Hibbing to write up the famous million-dollar high school of the richest village in the known world. She described it as an Aladdin's palace of unspeakable wealth and splendor. Among other things she said of it:

It doesn't seem to belong there. * * * It is splendid as a cathedral. It's a gorgeous extravaganza built out of dreams and ideals of people, who, perhaps, have missed candle-light and evening clothes in their youth. It is a white elephant in the land of the buffalo. * * * A gloriously childish expression of newly acquired riches.

It is Hibbing's turn to do an excited and perturbed dance and to lift strong protest to high heaven. And it is doing that very thing.

Yes, we have been stretched on the literary rack here in Minnesota of recent years. As Indiana was the victim of the persiflage "Indiana authors" the decade before, so now Minnesota is chosen for the stake, and the fagots are heaped about her and the literati of other States are dancing about, waving tomahawks and throwing knives. But let us take heart of grace. We are doing very well in Minnesota notwithstanding. We have a faith in her "that will not shrink, though pressed by every foe." In a year or two some other State or community will offer itself an unwilling victim of the searcher for "local color," and the outcry of other victims will strike the astonished stars perhaps above Iowa or Illinois or Oregon or California.

We repeat it, no harm has been done. Perhaps, even, a little free advertising may be claimed.

AN ODD REVERSION

THE desolate sand dunes of the Indiana shore beyond Chicago were the scene of a tragedy. There Alice Gray, once a brilliant student at the University of Chicago, had lived for years with her husband, an engineer of considerable talent. Both turned their backs on civilization and eked out an existence on the windswept dunes, living in their shack.

She died as she had lived, refusing to leave the unkempt shack for a hospital. Shortly before she died she whispered to her husband to burn her body and scatter the ashes from the highest dune of the Indiana shore.

Education is of little value unless it is made use of. The years she spent at the University of Chicago, the years he spent gaining a technical education, were certainly not of any advantage to their fellow men when they buried their talents and lived a hermit life on the sand dunes, both deserting civilization.

If they wished hardships, seclusion, etc., both could have used their talents most successfully in works of exploration to benefit the race. But merely living in a sand dune waste all by themselves must have been an utter squandering of education. Their's must have been a cross current of life.

LOCAL CAGERS SUFFER FIRST DEFEAT; CROSBY SCORES AN 11 TO 8 VICTORY

The B. H. S. basketball team met the first defeat of their conference season last Friday, when they were defeated by the fast Crosby-Ironton quint by a score of 11 to 8.

Crosby with a much improved attack and defense outplayed the locals throughout the contest, and would have smothered Brainerd if they had been able to make the majority of shots, which they missed.

Brainerd, on the other hand, played a listless game. One would never have recognized this team to be the one which defeated Crosby so decisively earlier in the season. In spite of the fact that the dash and aggressiveness were lacking, the locals had many chances near the end of the contest to put the game on ice. Just before the whistle blew in the final quarter, Capt. Engbretson and Whitlock both had easy chances to score but failed to take advantage of them.

Brainerd has no alibis to offer, and with a much needed rest, it is hoped that they will enter the next game with the same determination which has characterized them in the past.

On To Bemidji

"Bemidji or Bust." Our bank balance proved the latter.

Bill saw a History Instructor and he told her we wished to search for the Historical Archives of the North and begged to be excused from class that afternoon. She agreed and said, "A Noble Endeavor, I wish you well."

To Bemidji we flivvered—four dummies and myself. Making the trip in a "Hunka Tin," equipped with four wheels and no brakes. We were ready to leave Friday noon, but—no cash for gas. A pun from one of the wisecrackers, "Charge it to Dad" at the filling station (Home Sweet Home Oil Company).

In a fit of passion someone had dashed off these words on the rear of the car: No four wheel brakes, this car makes full stop at all R. R. crossings.

The trip to Bemidji was uneventful altho unreasonably tortuous near Walker. This was ascribed to, by Bill, that Highway Commissioner Babcock followed the Indian Trail while laying out Highway No. 19.

We covered the remaining five miles of our journey on four flat, all of the tires blowing out—successfully pierced by Indian Arrows.

At the game, after relating Bill's clever ruse with the History Instructor who should we chance to see across the floor but the frigid stare of Miss History Instructor—Words failed us.

Results of the game: Tribur lost his personal liberty. Enuf said.

Returning home, at a railway crossing beyond Hackensack, "Hunka Tin," (One of Henry's ten million) made a non stop between the crossing and the locomotive. "Ye gods," what a calamity because of the catastrophe!

The immortalized kindness of the train crew delivered us to the freight of our home town, C. O. D.

The Call of the Camera

"Have you had your picture taken yet?" is the question of the day among the Seniors. No one was quite brave enough to face that most awful photographer's weapon, the camera, until our editor-in-chief brought his first proofs to school. Then the rush was fast and furious.

The girls go down to the studio in groups of five or six. Immediately they repair to the little booths where combs and powder puffs are pressed into service. Each lock is finally in place and when each shiny nose is delicately powdered, they emerge, one by one, to go through the training ordeal. "Smile just a little bit. Don't look so sober. There, that's fine!" Click! goes the camera and the performance is over. Not so the worst part, for they must hie themselves to the studio again the next day to get the proofs. Exclamations of "Do I look like that!" and "Which one would you take if you were I?" are heard, and after a full half-hour of arguing and commenting, the weary Senior decides to have another sitting. And thus go the trials of every Senior class.

WHO'S WHO AT BRAINERD H. S.

Gladys Reuter

An intercepted pass—and the opposing forward dribbles down the floor toward Brainerd's basket. It happens, however, that Gladys Reuter isn't standing around swatting flies (or mosquitoes), so that opposing forward doesn't get her chance to shoot a basket.

You have probably guessed (or maybe you asked her) that Gladys is a guard, but she is also captain of the B. H. S. girl's team, and we've got to admit she knows her oil in that line too. So far, the girls' team is undefeated, and all the scores seemed to have quite a lot of space between the numbers. With Gladys and Alta Storm to keep Brainerd's basket from getting plugged up, and Edna Turner, Miriam Michael and Helen Beggs to dump the ball into the other hoop, they have quite a winning combination. The tip-off comes their way most of the time, too. Of course, each one must be in her place at the right time and we trust Gladys to get them there.

If these weren't the days of prohibition we could quaff a foaming mug to our successful Amazon, but as it is, we'll go buy a nickel glass of "Coke" and demand a straw.

Regional Executive Pote

Scout Executive Pote, who is regional executive of the Boy Scouts, spoke to us on Thursday morning. His talk was plentifully interspersed with humor which delighted the audience.

He said that a cat with custard from a custard pie which your mother has baked is "in Dutch" because he is travelling in the wrong crowd. The Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, Y. M. C. A., or any similar organization form the right bunch with which to be identified.

Boys are animals for they crawl like a snail, climb like a squirrel, eat like a pig, bellow like a bull, and as Seniors, coo like a dove.

There is a phase of Scouting not very well known to boys and girls. After Scouts have passed their tests from Tenderfoot to First Class, the realm of vocational training is open to them in which sixty-seven different trades are included. The boy who wishes to obtain a merit badge in one of these trades goes to an expert and learns the trade. He then passes an examination and is awarded the badge.

The interests of the older boys wane in Scouting, probably for lack of interest. Yet the Vanderbilt team which beat Minnesota passed all the tests through First Class in Scouting because they felt it was the one thing to give them a better spirit for the team, and more companionship.

There are hundreds of Eagle Scouts in Minneapolis, everyone of whom become Eagle Scouts at the age of seventeen or older. A boy is never too old if he has the real spirit. There are 695,000 Scouts and men working in Scouting in the United States. Of these 167,000 are grown men.

Sixty-two countries of the world have Scout troops. An International Jamboree was held recently at which thirty-two countries were represented. They had ten interpreters at tea to help them carry on a polite conversation and they formed a miniature League of Nations.

Scout Executive Pote closed a very interesting talk with the Scout Farewell of Dan Beard, founder and National Scout Commissioner: "May the Great Spirit put sunshine in your hearts now and in the future, very much Farewell."

Miss Schow: "Memorize lines 216 to 238."

Warner (woefully): "Oh, I can't, for I take gym tomorrow."

Prof. (looking over the headings of the different chapters in a philosophy book) remarked: "And here is one entitled 'The Worth of Women,' but it covers only a short paragraph."

Miss Larsen (to class): "What does 'ism' on the end of a word mean?"

John Tribur: "Kinda love?"

Senior Class Meeting

Class meetings are a frequent occurrence in the Senior room of late and important things have been settled and lifted off the weighty minds of the graduates. They have decided to dedicate the 1925 edition of the Brainerdian annual to "Brainerd, Gateway of the 10,000 Lakes."

The class colors are old rose and gray while the pink tea rose was chosen as the class flower. "Honor lies at Labors Gate" was accepted for a motto by a large majority vote. Just now the class play is the chief topic of interest an account of which will be given in another column.

YE ROOMY FORD AND CLASS PLAY REHEARSAL AGAIN

With shrinking, yet hurrying steps we ambled on our way to 411 8th street. "Do you know your part?" "No, do you?" "I dunno when to come in and the directions are so funny." "I haven't a book"—Such were the enlightening remarks banded back and forth as the figures congregated at the meeting place. The last person came strolling. Who? Freddie Perkins, of course. Ah, we now hear the authoritative voice, "This will be the stage, and I'll sit here so you'll know where the audience is. Alright, begin—curtain up!"

"Oh Gee, where are we supposed to be?" "Do I say it like this?" "No, not that way, like this—make a face; you're supposed to be angry." Then some more, all the way through the act. Three whole times, then our eight hour day is done. A rather short day, for it only covered two hours in the evening.

What is this? Ah!—Sweet praise! Sounds good to us. Another surprise, for Mrs. Dieckhaus served a dainty lunch. And what wonders were disclosed. Three of the boys are saving souvenirs for their "girl" (?) grads. Here's hoping they will soon be in evidence. We'd like a new thrill, wouldn't we, girls? Another boy seems to be a perfect wonder—he wipes dishes and helps make dinner! Who? That's telling, as the little boy said when he stood on the burning deck. A lot of new ideas were dished out but as time and space are limited, we will leave them for the present.

Then our trip home. Imagine our surprise when Freddie Perkins, our second prize orphan, offered to take us all home in his car (of course, it was a Ford.) Well, the whole first act of the class play piled in and to make a long story short, there were "leven of us."

Faculty Facts

Miss Oldenburg

"Wanted: a cross disposition for Miss Oldenburg." Not that we really want one for her, heaven forbid! She might search far and wide but would find no nature more suitable to her than her own jolly self. We are in doubt whether we shall keep her much longer after the proposal made her last week, but we are living in hope that she will remain with us the rest of this year and guide us along the flowery path of knowledge, in the dead language, Latin.

Miss Oldenburg's spelldowns in her Latin I classes are a source of never-ending delight, but as they are few and far between we await them next eagerly. We often wonder in Caesar how she reads our feelings so correctly, for some mornings when a passage is unusually long and difficult and the dear old Caesar book has not been so much as looked into, she says, "Sentences today," and we all fairly whoop with delight.

Girls, when in doubt as to the kind of handkerchiefs to use, turn to Miss Oldenburg for advice, because her assortment seems large and varied—and her collars and cuffs, oh Girl!

The sewing class is experimenting in dyeing this week. A teacher asked, "Where are all the girls?"

M. S.: They are all dyeing in the Sewing room."

Miss Thomas (in Anc. History): "Floyd, name some of the things that were studied in the time of the Roman Empire."

Floyd: "Geometry, Arithmetic, Astronomy and Medicine."

Clarence: "They didn't teach medicine, say, back then."

SPEECHES OF THE PAST WEEK

Rev. Father Remmis

Last Wednesday the assembly had the pleasure of hearing a speech which has been long-awaited and many times postponed. Rev. Father Remmis chose as his topic, "Athletics and School Spirit."

Father Remmis said that athletics hold a commanding place in America both in money and attendance. Some people feel that this place is out of proportion in the schools. But the Duke of Wellington said that the battle of Waterloo was won on the playgrounds of Eton where he developed power.

After three years of high school Father Remmis declares that he felt well educated, but was persuaded to go back to play football. In his opinion nothing counted in school but athletics. He thought the building was finished when the gym was built; that was the only part that was any good. Father Remmis says that he lacked school spirit; he didn't fit in until he realized that there was much more to school than just athletics.

Who, What and Where

A sure sign of Spring—girl grads have already made their appearance and according to Mrs. Semple in "Daddy Long Legs," "We don't get no rest."

Portrait taking is a growing fad in B. H. S. at present. The individual pictures of the basketball boys are especially pleasing. More Seniors are urged to have their sittings as soon as possible.

Kay Nolan deserves special mention for the way she lead the cheering at the last game which featured the Crosby vs. Brainerd girls. "It takes someone to outdo the pep of a Nolan!"

Girls' Inter-Class Games

Basketball in the B. H. S. seems very popular among the girls, as between fifty and sixty have turned out every Friday night for squad practice, since last November. As this number was far too many, it was reduced on Friday, January 30th. From nine to eleven girls were chosen on each team to play in the inter-class games in March.

The following were chosen to represent the four classes:

Freshmen
Kathleen Early
Elsie Swanson
Opal Brooks
Jean Rowley
Irene Moistad
Myrtle Peterson
Margaret Jackson
Magdalene Koeppe
Beatrice Linera

Sophomores
Alice Johnson
Fern Lewis
Iona Hollingsworth
Helen Paine
Irene Koeppe
Lena Gravelle
Esther Gallagher
Emily Cocks
Lena Perlman
Marion Linera
Thelma Hendrickson

Seniors
Adella Betzold
Irene Young
Delphine Winter
Agnes Templeton
Marion Hall
Katherine Spencer
Mabel Lynch
Rose Hogan
Marion Romain

Juniors
Gladys Smith
Elizabeth Hanson
Eleanor Nolan
Lenore Regan
Edna Gallagher
Esther Bentley
Pearl Gage
Evelyn Sabin
Evelyn Weisz

As there are ten Freshmen, ten Seniors, and eleven Sophomores, one or two must be eliminated to make the team of nine. Class team practices will be held Friday nights as usual.

How to Kill a School Paper

Never hand in news items. Be sure to criticize everything in the paper. Be a knocker.

Look over the funny column—nothing funny in it—you have the best idea of humor of anyone in school and have the funniest sayings imaginable—yet you never contribute a thing. Be a crumb. Tell the staff members the paper is fine—tell your classmates that the whole paper is "rotten." Be two-faced.

If you don't want to help keep the Brainerdian, what it should be, then be what you ought to be—a corpse.

Declamation Contest

The Elimination Declamation Contest was held Monday, Feb. 2. The Misses Larson, Tornstrom, Dean and Thomas were the judges of the following participants: Emily Cocks, Martius Seeger, Bernice Samuelson, and Ida Hoffman.

Miss Larson donated her services willingly and aided in preparing the speeches. Any time one passed her room she was marking out some useless paragraphs that would detract from the interest of the piece.

After much debating among the teachers Ida Hoffman and Martius Seeger were the lucky ones chosen to represent Brainerd High at Alkiha in a contest for the district championship Feb. 14th.

GIRLS SCORE FOURTH CONSECUTIVE WIN; GAME WAS FAST AND CLEAN THROUGHOUT

EXCHANGE

The Monday Morning Moan, Forest Grove, Oregon.—This is a new paper on our exchange list and a very interesting one. We hope to hear from you often.

Canby-Hy Live Wire, Canby, Minnesota.—This is also a new paper, and also very interesting. A very good article on "Losing." Write often.

Litchfield High News, Litchfield, Minn.—The girls will publish a separate school-paper on Jan. 29. We certainly enjoyed the boys' edition and are looking forward to the girls'.

The Purple Parrot, Red Wing, Minn.—We hope that your Junior Carnival was a great success, as ours was last year.

Anokahi, Anoka, Minn.—Both the girls and boys won three successive victories in basketball. Good luck for the rest of the season.

The Herman Hummer, Herman, Minn.—According to the Senior Prophesy, there will be many illustrious people from the class of '25.

A Junior stood on the railroad track; The train was coming fast. The Junior stepped off the railroad track And let the train go past.

A Senior stood on the railroad track; The train was coming fast. The train got off the railroad track To let the Senior pass.

WUXTRY, WUXTRY! BIG FIRE IN B. H. S.

Quiet reigned in the seventh period Chemistry Class. 'Twas nearly time for the first bell to ring. Some one began reciting in an aimless fashion then—all was bustle and confusion. We craned our necks, our eyes were staring—for from the waste basket, great clouds of smoke arose and drifted around the room. Mr. Johnson was the hero of the day for he calmly jumped over to the sink, filled a beaker full of water and dashed it into the basket. The smoke lessened perceptibly. Another beaker of water and then the smoke was no more. The hero of this one act (shall we say) tragedy or comedy, then examined the contents of the basket. Aha! No—he did not hold the cause of the fire aloft for all to see, but in answer to the numerous queries of "Was it spontaneous combustion?" etc., answered but one word, "Phosphorous."

But we, not having acquired so much information on the subject, demanded more. "Dried up and then ignited," were his concluding words. Back to lessons. "Titter, titter!" "What's the matter now?" "Something else over by that sink." "Fix it up!" Soon done. "The lab, will probably not be here tomorrow."

This comment was received by a mixture of glad and sorrowful exclamations and so ended our little conflagration, without even a fire alarm and drill.

Team of '28

At the meeting called by Mr. Krueger three weeks ago, for all freshmen who were interested in basketball, we were informed that we were to train for the team of nineteen twenty eight.

We started that Wednesday by getting acquainted with some of the modern tricks. After a few rounds they were working well, so our coach organized two teams to try out the tricks.

We thought that they would take us down the floor, but the other team had also practiced them; this made it difficult to get near our basket at first, but, after a while, we played our own game and came out on the longest end of the score.

Support is all we want of the rest of the Freshmen class. If we get this we will be able to think of getting the class pennant.

The Brainerd Girls scored its 4th consecutive win by defeating the Crosby-Ironton Normal quint with a score of 14 to 7.

The game was fast and clean throughout. During the first quarter the Normal girls had the Brainerd High girls outclassed, 3 to 0. This was due to the fact that Crosby's floor is much larger than ours and the girls couldn't cover so much territory. After the quarter the girls came back ready to fight for their colors (blue and white) and the half ended in a 10 to 4 score.

In the last half both teams were on an equal footing, each side trying its best to pile up the score. The ball was passed back and forth, but the girls' luck at shooting had failed them.

Helen Beggs was the heavy scorer, while the other girls showed remarkable skill in passing and catching the ball which enabled her to score. The girls have their team-work worked up to perfection.

The Normal girls played a hard fought game, while Dorothy McDonald and Nellie Curtis may split the honors for scoring.

The line-up was:

Brainerd	Crosby-Ironton N.
Edna Turner	l.f. Nellie Curtis
Miriam Michael	r.f. D. McDonald
Iva Trask	c. Lenora Burud
Helen Beggs	r.c. Mary Forsland
Alta Storm	l.g. Anna Ferrara
G. Reuter, C.	r.g. J. Sennette, C.

Subs for Brainerd: Grace Alant for Helen Beggs and Iva Trask. Helen Beggs for Miriam Michael and Gert Link for Alant.

Subs for Crosby-Ironton—Lenora Burud for Anna Ferrara; Mary Forsland for Lenora Burud and Anna Ferrara for Mary Forsland. The subs all played a good game too.

Daddy Long Legs

Slowly but surely the Senior Class Play, (Daddy Long Legs) is taking definite form and shape. Rehearsals are held almost daily and one complete practice has already been held at the theatre. Tickets are now on sale and can be purchased from any Senior or member of the cast.

The play will be given February 18th, and tickets will be reserved at 12 o'clock on Saturday, Feb. 14th— at the Park theatre. The system used last year will be in force next Saturday. Each person will receive a number when he appears—he may reserve four tickets only, when his turn comes. It is advisable to get one's tickets as soon as possible for the house, in past years has always been sold out long before the evening of the play.

Iris Wolvert, who created such a favorable impression in "Who Kissed Barbara," takes the role of Sally McBride, Judy's College chum. Though continually bored by the antics of Jimmy McBride, her brother, she nevertheless proves a great factor in cheering up Judy in her disconsolate moments.

Two other roles of note are that of Cyrus Wykoff and Abner Parsons, trustees in the John Grier Home. The part of Wykoff is taken by Vernon Dieckhaus and we're greatly anticipating his appearance as a short, chubby, gray headed man, pompous and dignified, with an exaggerated idea of his own importance. William Opsahl as Abner Parsons, another trustee, is the same type of man but then, of course, he couldn't possibly be short and chubby.

Remember Walter Engbretson as the very much worried host in "The Two Dicks"? He still has worries but of a different nature and as Griggs, Jervis Pendleton's secretary, you'll find him at his best.

Harry Lyddon as Jervis Pendleton's butler is characterized as being obstinate and having such a patient persistency that Jervis, very much irritated, drinks a whole glass of medicine!

Nina Romain is an accomplished maid of Mrs. Semple's household, while Bernice White, a petite uniformed servant belongs to the house of Pendleton.

Alfreda Zawadzki is the very aristocratic spinster aunt of Julia Pendleton. With such an array of talent the admission price will be comparatively small as to the value received.

LOCAL CAGERS SUFFER FIRST DEFEAT; CROSBY SCORES AN 11 TO 8 VICTORY

The B. H. S. basketball team met the first defeat of their conference season last Friday, when they were defeated by the fast Crosby-Ironton quint by a score of 11 to 8.

Crosby with a much improved attack and defense outplayed the locals throughout the contest, and would have smothered Brainerd if they had been able to make the majority of shots, which they missed.

Brainerd, on the other hand, played a listless game. One would never have recognized this team to be the one which defeated Crosby so decisively earlier in the season. In spite of the fact that the dash and aggressiveness were lacking, the locals had many chances near the end of the contest to put the game on ice. Just before the whistle blew in the final quarter, Capt. Engbretson and Whitlock both had easy chances to score but failed to take advantage of them.

Brainerd has no alibis to offer, and with a much needed rest, it is hoped that they will enter the next game with the same determination which has characterized them in the past.

On To Bemidji

"Bemidji or Bust." Our bank balance proved the latter.

Bill saw a History Instructor and he told her we wished to search for the Historical Archives of the North and begged to be excused from class that afternoon. She agreed and said, "A Noble Endeavor, I wish you well."

To Bemidji we flivvered—four dummies and myself. Making the trip in a "Hunka Tin," equipped with four wheels and no brakes. We were ready to leave Friday noon, but—no cash for gas. A pun from one of the wisecrackers, "Charge it to Dad" at the filling station (Home Sweet Home Oil Company).

In a fit of passion someone had dashed off these words on the rear of the car: No four wheel brakes, this car makes full stop at all R. R. crossings.

The trip to Bemidji was uneventful altho unreasonably tortuous near Walker. This was ascribed to, by Bill, that Highway Commissioner Babcock followed the Indian Trail while laying out Highway No. 19.

We covered the remaining five miles of our journey on four flat, all of the tires blowing out—successfully pierced by Indian Arrows.

At the game, after relating Bill's clever ruse with the History Instructor who should we chance to see across the floor but the frigid stars of Miss History Instructor—Words failed us.

Results of the game: Tribur lost his personal liberty. Enur said.

Returning home, at a railway crossing beyond Hackensack, "Hunka Tin." (One of Henry's ten million) made a non stop between the crossing and the locomotive. "Ye gods," what a calamity because of the catastrophe!

The immortalized kindness of the train crew delivered us to the freight of our home town, C. O. D.

The Call of the Camera

"Have you had your picture taken yet?" is the question of the day among the Seniors. No one was quite brave enough to face that most awful photographer's weapon, the camera, until our editor-in-chief brought his first proofs to school. Then the rush was fast and furious. The girls go down to the studio in groups of five or six. Immediately they repair to the little booths where combs and powder puffs are pressed into service. Each lock is finally in place and when each shiny nose is delicately powdered, they emerge, one by one, to go through the training ordeal. "Smile just a little bit. Don't look so sober. There, that's fine!" Click! goes the camera and the performance is over. Not so the worst part, for they must tie themselves to the studio again the next day to get the proofs. Exclamations of "Do I look like that?" and "Which one would you take if you were I?" are heard, and after a full half-hour of arguing and commenting, the weary Senior decides to have another sitting. And thus go the trials of every Senior class.

WHO'S WHO AT BRAINERD H. S.

Gladys Reuter

An intercepted pass—and the opposing forward dribbles down the floor toward Brainerd's basket. It happens, however, that Gladys Reuter isn't standing around swatting flies (or mosquitoes), so that opposing forward doesn't get her chance to shoot a basket.

You have probably guessed (or maybe you asked her) that Gladys is a guard, but she is also captain of the B. H. S. girls' team, and we've got to admit she knows her oil in that line too. So far, the girls' team is undefeated, and all the scores seemed to have quite a lot of space between the numbers. With Gladys and Alta Storm to keep Brainerd's basket from getting plugged up, and Edna Turner, Miriam Michael and Helen Beggs to dump the ball into the other hoop, they have quite a winning combination. The tip-off comes their way most of the time, too. Of course, each one must be in her place at the right time and we trust Gladys to get them there.

If these weren't the days of prohibition we could quaff a foaming mug to our successful Amazon, but as it is, we'll go buy a pickle glass of "Coke" and demand a straw.

Regional Executive Pote

Scout Executive Pote, who is regional executive of the Boy Scouts, spoke to us on Thursday morning. His talk was plentifully interspersed with humor which delighted the audience.

He said that a cat with custard from a custard pie which your mother has baked is "in Dutch" because he is travelling in the wrong crowd. The Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, Y. M. C. A., or any similar organization form the right bunch with which to be identified.

Boys are animals for they crawl like a snail, climb like a squirrel, eat like a pig, bellow like a bull, and as Seniors, coo like a dove.

There is a phase of Scouting not very well known to boys and girls. After Scouts have passed their tests from Tenderfoot to First Class, the realm of vocational training is open to them in which sixty-seven different trades are included. The boy who wishes to obtain a merit badge in one of these trades goes to an expert and learns the trade. He then passes an examination and is awarded the badge.

The interests of the older boys wane in Scouting, probably for lack of interest. Yet the Vanderbilt team which beat Minnesota passed all the tests through First Class in Scouting because they felt it was the one thing to give them a better spirit for the team, and more companionship.

There are hundreds of Eagle Scouts in Minneapolis, everyone of whom become Eagle Scouts at the age of seventeen or older. A boy is never too old if he has the real spirit. There are 605,000 Scouts and men working in Scouting in the United States. Of these 167,000 are grown men.

Sixty-two countries of the world have Scout troops. An International Jamboree was held recently at which thirty-two countries were represented. They had ten interpreters at tea to help them carry on a polite conversation and they formed a miniature League of Nations.

Scout Executive Pote closed a very interesting talk with the Scout Farewell of Dan Beard, founder and National Scout Commissioner: "May the Great Spirit put sunshine in your hearts now and in the future, very much Farewell."

Miss Schow: "Memorize lines 216 to 228."

Warner (woefully): "Oh, I can't for I take gym tomorrow."

Prof. (looking over the headings of the different chapters in a philosophy book) remarked: "And here is one entitled 'The Worth of Women,' but it covers only a short paragraph."

Miss Larsen (to class): "What does 'ism' on the end of a word mean?" John Tribur: "Kinda love?"

Senior Class Meeting

Class meetings are a frequent occurrence in the Senior room of late and important things have been settled and lifted off the weighty minds of the graduates. They have decided to dedicate the 1925 edition of the Brainerdian annual to "Brainerd, Gateway of the 10,000 Lakes."

The class colors are old rose and gray while the pink tea rose was chosen as the class flower. "Honors at Labors Gate" was accepted for a motto by a large majority vote. Just now the class play is the chief topic of interest an account of which will be given in another column.

YE ROOMY FORD AND CLASS PLAY REHEARSAL AGAIN

With shrinking, yet hurrying steps we ambled on our way to 411 8th street. "Do you know your part?" "No, do you?" "I dunno when to come in and the directions are so funny." "I haven't a book"—Such were the enlightening remarks banded back and forth as the figures congregated at the meeting place. The last person came strolling. Who? Freddie Perkins, of course. Ah, we now hear the authoritative voice, "This will be the stage, and I'll sit here so you'll know where the audience is. Alright, begin—curtain up!"

"Oh Gee, where are we supposed to be?" "Do I say it like this?" "No, not that way, like this—make a face; you're supposed to be angry." Then some more, all the way through the act. Three whole times, then our eight hour day is done. A rather short day, for it only covered two hours in the evening.

What is this? Ah!—Sweet praise! Sounds good to us. Another surprise, for Mrs. Dieckhaus served a dainty lunch. And what wonders were disclosed. Three of the boys are saving souvenirs for their "girl" (?) grads. Here's hoping they will soon be in evidence. We'd like a new thrill, wouldn't we, girls? Another boy seems to be a perfect wonder—he wipes dishes and helps make dinner! Who? That's telling, as the little boy said when he stood on the burning deck. A lot of new ideas were dashed out as time and space are limited, we will leave them for the present.

Then our trip home. Imagine our surprise when Freddie Perkins, our second prize orphan, offered to take us all home in his car (of course, it was a Ford.) Well, the whole first act of the class play piled in and to make a long story short, there were "leven of us."

Faculty Facts

Miss Oldenburg
"Wanted: a cross disposition for Miss Oldenburg." Not that we really want one for her, heaven forbid! She might search far and wide but would find no nature more suitable to her than her own jolly self. We are in doubt whether we shall keep her much longer after the proposal made her last week, but we are living in hope that she will remain with us the rest of this year and guide us along the flowery path of knowledge, in the dead language, Latin.

Miss Oldenburg's spellings in her Latin I classes are a source of never-ending delight, but as they are few and far between we await the next eagerly. We often wonder in Caesar how she reads our feelings so correctly, for some mornings when a passage is unusually long and difficult and the dear old Caesar book has not been so much as looked into, she says, "Sentences today," and we all fairly whoop with delight.

Girls, when in doubt as to the kind of handkerchiefs to use, turn to Miss Oldenburg for advice, because her assortment seems large and varied—and her collars and cuffs, oh Girl!

The sewing class is experimenting in dyeing this week. A teacher asked, "Where are all the girls?"

M. S.: They are all dyeing in the Sewing room."

Miss Thomas (in Anc. History): "Floyd, name some of the things that were studied in the time of the Roman Empire."

Floyd: "Geometry, Arithmetic, Astronomy and Medicine."

Clarence: "They didn't teach medicine, did they?"

SPEECHES OF THE PAST WEEK

Rev. Father Remmis
Last Wednesday the assembly had the pleasure of hearing a speech which has been long-awaited and many times postponed. Rev. Father Remmis chose as his topic, "Athletics and School Spirit."

Father Remmis said that athletics hold a commanding place in America both in money and attendance. Some people feel that this place is out of proportion in the schools. But the Duke of Wellington said that the battle of Waterloo was won on the playgrounds of Eton where he developed power.

After three years of high school Father Remmis declares that he felt well educated, but was persuaded to go back to play football. In his opinion nothing counted in school but athletics. He thought the building was finished when the gym was built; that was the only part that was any good. Father Remmis says that he lacked school spirit; he didn't fit in until he realized that there was much more to school than just athletics.

There is no force except religion which is as big a character builder as athletics; but athletics is a means, not an end. There are many types in school which do not fit in. There is the athletic type with all his thoughts and time on the next game. He doesn't realize that he is going to school for other things. He thinks he has a great deal of school spirit, but he has none. There is the rooter, who spends his time boosting the games, and cheering. He lacks school spirit if that is all he does. He must root for the other factors in school too.

The school has a regular routine and rules into which the pupil must fit. The student must adapt himself to the system of the school. When a pupil graduates, he has finished a piece of work, and he can't do it well unless he adapts himself.

Remember Walter Engbretson as the very much worried host in "The Two Dicks"? He still has worries but of a different nature and as Griggs, Jervis Pendleton's secretary, you'll find him at his best.

Harry Lyddon as Jervis Pendleton's butler is characterized as being obstinate and having such a patient persistency that Jervis, very much irritated, drinks a whole glass of medicine!

Nina Romain is an accomplished maid of Mrs. Semple's household, while Bernice White, a petite uniformed servant belongs to the house of Pendleton.

Alfreda Zawadski is the very aristocratic spinster aunt of Julia Pendleton. With such an array of talent the admission price will be comparatively small as to the value received.

GIRLS SCORE FOURTH CONSECUTIVE WIN; GAME WAS FAST AND CLEAN THROUGHOUT

EXCHANGE

The Monday Morning Moan, Forest Grove, Oregon.—This is a new paper on our exchange list and a very interesting one. We hope to hear from you often.

Canby-Hy Live Wire, Canby, Minnesota.—This is also a new paper, and also very interesting. A very good article on "Losing." Write often.

Litchfield High News, Litchfield, Minn.—The girls will publish a separate school-paper on Jan. 29. We certainly enjoyed the boys' edition and are looking forward to the girls'.

The Purple Parrot, Red Wing, Minn.—We hope that your Junior Carnival was a great success, as ours was last year.

Anokah, Anoka, Minn.—Both the girls and boys won three successive victories in basketball. Good luck for the rest of the season.

The Herman Hammer, Herman, Minn.—According to the Senior Prohecy, there will be many illustrious people from the class of '25.

A Junior stood on the railroad track. The train was coming fast. The Junior stepped off the railroad track. And let the train go past.

A Senior stood on the railroad track. The train was coming fast. The train got off the railroad track. To let the Senior pass.

WUXTRY, WUXTRY! BIG FIRE IN B. H. S.

Quiet reigned in the seventh period Chemistry Class. 'Twas nearly time for the first bell to ring. Some one began reciting in an aimless fashion then—all was bustle and confusion. We craned our necks, our eyes were staring—for from the waste basket, great clouds of smoke arose and drifted around the room. Mr. Johnson was the hero of the day for he calmly jumped over to the sink, filled a beaker full of water and dashed it into the basket. The smoke lessened perceptibly. Another beaker of water and then the smoke was no more. The hero of this one act (shall we say) tragedy or comedy, then examined the contents of the basket. Aha! No—he did not hold the cause of the fire aloft for all to see, but in answer to the numerous queries of "Was it spontaneous combustion?" etc., answered but one word, "Phosphorus."

But we, not having acquired so much information on the subject, demanded more. "Dried up and then ignited," were his concluding words. Back to lessons. "Titter, titter!" "What's the matter now?" "Something else over by that sink." "Fix it up!" Soon done. "The lab. will probably not be here tomorrow."

This comment was received by a mixture of glad and sorrowful exclamations and so ended our little conflagration, without even a fire alarm and drill.

Team of '28

At the meeting called by Mr. Krueger three weeks ago, for all freshmen who were interested in basketball, we were informed that we were to train for the team of nineteen twenty eight.

We started that Wednesday by getting acquainted with some of the modern tricks. After a few rounds they were working well, so our coach organized two teams to try out the tricks.

We thought that they would take us down the floor, but the other team had also practiced them; this made it difficult to get near our basket at first, but, after a while, we played our own game and came out on the longest end of the score.

Support is all we want of the rest of the Freshmen class. If we get this we will be able to think of getting the class pennant.

FOREIGN DEMAND RELAXES AND IS FELT IN CHI- CAGO

Chicago, Feb. 10.—May wheat today suffered a drop of 4 5-8 cents from yesterday's close. The price at 10:30 a. m. registered $1.86 a bushel. A slump downward in the foreign demand was held responsible for the drop.

MAY WHEAT IN NERVOUS DROP

Chicago, Feb. 10. — May wheat dropped to $1.84 a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade today, a drop of 6 5-8 cents from yesterday's close. Lessening foreign demand and operations of professional speculators on the short side were given as the reasons for the sharp drop.

WHO ARE ELIGIBLE TO MEMBERSHIP IN LEGION AUXILIARY

Officers of the local unit of the American Legion Auxiliary have received a new ruling from the national department regarding just who is eligible to membership in the organization. The ruling is as follows:

"Membership in the American Legion Auxiliary is limited to mothers, wives, sisters and lineal female descendants of members of the American Legion and to mothers, wives, sisters and lineal female descendants of all men and women who were in the military or naval service of the United States between April 6, 1917 and November 11, 1918, and died in line of duty or after honorable discharge.

USES RADIO TO ASSIST IN CHURCH SERVICE

Radio broadcasting of sermons from the large city churches has been quite the thing for some time, but radio reception of sermons to assist pastors of churches in the smaller towns with their services is an innovation and two churches northeast of Bemidji are believed among the first to adopt this unique method. Rev. Lindholm, of Tenstrike, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Tenstrike and Mizpah has purchased a Magnavox receiving set from the Radio and Electric company of Bemidji, the set being used in church services for the first time Sunday evening. Aerials have been installed at both churches and also at Rev. Lindholm's home in Tenstrike Sunday night, however, the outdoor aerial was not used, the hook-up being made with the metal ceiling of the church. The set is the property of Rev. Lindholm and he proposes to use it regularly to assist in his church services. By merely turning a dial he is enabled to make his own choice of sermons. Stations broadcasting "jazz" music and other undesirable programs are quickly dialed out at the church services. Sunday night the set was tested out by Andy Lee of the Bemidji concern and the results are reported very satisfactory. —Bemidji Daily Pioneer.

PRODUCERS RALLY TO NEW CO-OP LAW

Members of the Minnesota Potato Growers exchange are leading a movement to impress on members of the present legislature the fact that farmers generally want the new co-operative law left exactly as it was enacted two years ago.

"Enemies of co-operative marketing are known to be making a determined effort to either repeal the law entirely or amend it so as to materially weaken the organizations that were formed under it," said S. G. Rubinow, general manager of the Potato exchange. "We have advised every one of our members to impress upon their senators and representatives the necessity for watching every bill passed so that no rider will be attached which will accomplish the purpose of those who are alarmed by the growth of the co-operative movement in this state."

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Fort That Was Built by a "Tenderfoot"

Just when the term "tenderfoot" was first used is unknown. But it is pretty certain that it could have been applied to Nathaniel J. Wyeth of Boston. Back in 1832 he decided that a profitable salmon fishery could be established on the Columbia river in the Pacific northwest, to be operated in connection with the fur trade, enlisted a group of New Englanders in his enterprise and started West.

Not one of the party had ever seen an Indian, handled a rifle nor had the faintest idea of plainscraft. Fortunately for them, at Independence, Mo., they fell in with two veterans of the plains, Capt. William Sublette and Robert Campbell, partners in the Rocky Mountain Fur company, who were bound for the annual trappers' rendezvous at Pierre's Hole far up in Wyoming, and, traveling with them, the easterners learned their first lesson in the frontier's hard school.

Then followed several months of exciting adventure and despite the loss of several men in fights with the fiercest Blackfeet Indians and the desertion of others, Wyeth pushed on with 11 men into the Snake river country and finally in October, 1833, reached Fort Vancouver, the Hudson's Bay company post on the Columbia. Here most of his men deserted him, but undaunted, the leader, accompanied by only two of his followers, started on the back track. After another perilous journey he reached St. Louis in safety and organized the Columbia River Fishing and Trading company.

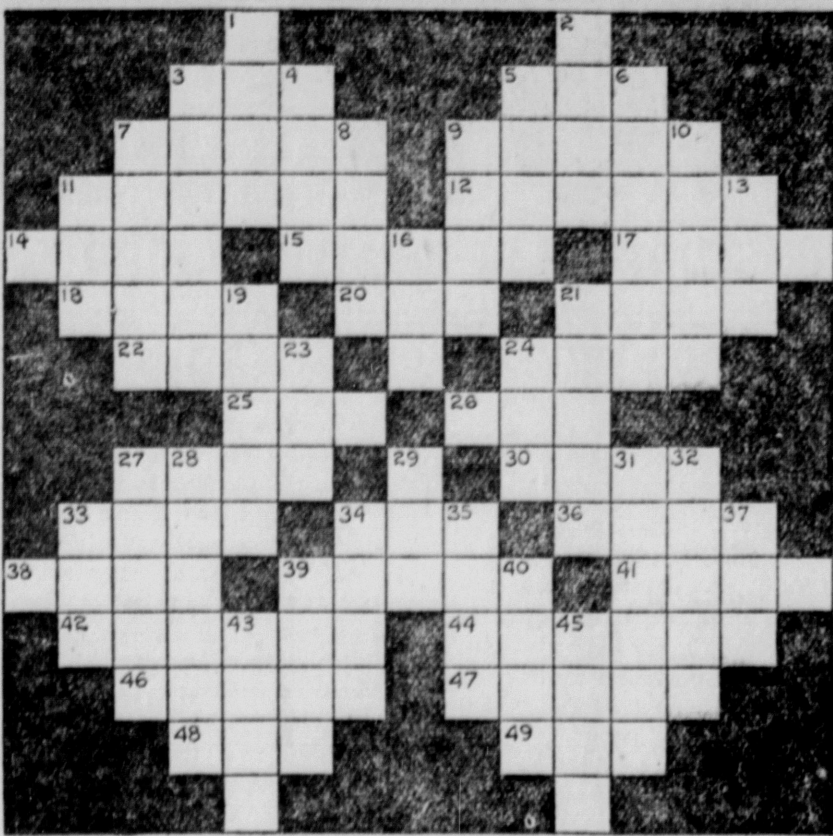

Then he set out again and in the summer of 1834 built a fort in what is now Idaho on the left bank of the Snake river above the mouth of the Portneuf. It was finished on August 6, 1834, and named Fort Hall in honor of Henry Hall, the oldest partner in the company. He raised over it a "flag made of unbleached sheeting, a little red flannel and a few blue patches, saluted with damaged powder and wet in villainous liquor" and thus the American flag was first unfurled over that part of the West.

In 1836 Wyeth sold Fort Hall to the Hudson's Bay company. In the days of the great migration over the Oregon trail it was an important post, since it marked the place where many emigrants turned off to seek their fortunes in the gold fields of California, and in the '70's it played a leading part in the Banhook and Piute war. But the greatest fame of Fort Hall lies in its early history when it was the living symbol of the indomitable courage of J. Wyeth.

ACTRESS RENEWS YOUTH BY NEW GLAND TREATMENT

Vivacious as a girl of twenty, with sparkling eyes and dimpled cheeks, Connie Eddie, the popular English actress, brought no end of exclamations of surprise from her friends who knew she was over 50 years old. She then told her secret—that glandular treatment has restored her youth and beauty.

The object of glandular treatment is to awaken the devitalized glands, so they may continue their normal function of supplying the vital glandular secretions, so necessary to physical energy, beauty and perfect health.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, prepared in tablet form provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen, for men and women, is obtainable at Johnson's Pharmacy and Economy Drug Co.

An honest man's word

More than three hundred years ago, Miguel de Cervantes said: "An honest man's word is as good as his bond." Advertisers must be honest men, if they would remain advertisers. Their announcements are signed. They must tell the truth in their advertising. For their own protection, as well as yours.

What would it profit a man to advertise "Pure, virgin-wool suits," only to have you discover they were shoddy? You would soon separate the sheep from the cotton. And you would never deal with that man again. And, further, you would tell all your acquaintances what a skinflint he was.

As a matter of business, if not of personal principle, an advertiser must tell the truth in his signed announcements. That's what makes the advertising columns of this paper such reliable guides to honest merchandise. The printed announcements are bonds between you and the advertiser.

Read the advertisements. Read them regularly. To be informed on the newest and best in everything. To save hours of shopping. To make the family purse do a bigger, better job. To get goods of known quality at the most attractive price.

You would not plan a motor trip without first consulting road-maps and guide-books. Is it logical to plan a shopping trip without first consulting the advertisements? Read the advertisements. Then go to the stores with your mind more than half made up.

A signed advertisement is, in effect, a sealed bond between you and the advertiser

Clear The Head Stop That Cold

Cold in the head means a germ attack. The membranes become inflamed, head becomes stuffed. And that's misery.

Quick relief demands direct attack on those germs. Apply Ely's Cream Balm in the nostrils and breathe it. The head clears instantly, inflammation is subdued. The cold disappears.

Don't wait for internal effects. Fight the cold where it is—in the air passages. Ask your druggist for a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Enjoy this quick relief.

SALVATION ARMY'S ANNUAL APPEAL

Annual Appeal Opened This Morning, Headquarters Chamber of Commerce Rooms

ALL COUNTY ORGANIZED

Workers to be Placed by Director Borgen in Every Town and Township

Campaign headquarters for the annual Salvation Army "Heart Fund" campaign was opened in the Chamber of Commerce rooms this morning for a budget of $3,000.

A campaign for this amount will commence on Monday, February 23. This week and next week will be devoted to forming a solid organization throughout every corner of Crow Wing county.

Norman A. Borgen and wife who were here last year are directing the campaign, and plan to organize groups of workers throughout every town and township in the county.

Building Deficit Needed

Of the $3,000 to be raised, $500 is to be applied to lift a mortgage for that amount which the Brainerd corps of the Salvation Army has on its local officers quarters. The balance of the amount to be raised, or $2,500 is to carry on the Crow Wing county relief and social program of the Salvation Army for the ensuing twelve months.

"Heart" Slogan

"This will be the second annual 'Heart Fund' campaign in Brainerd," said Mr. Borgen, this morning.

The campaign will be symbolized by a big red heart back of a Salvation Army lassie, with the slogan, "Put Your Heart Back of Her Service."

"Invest in Humanity" will be the urge to all citizens, indicating that "U" and "I" are the backbone of humanity, and that this work for the cause of humanity needs "U" and "I" to put it over.

EASTERN STAR SOCIAL CLUB

Organized by Members of Alpha Chapter No. 23 Order Eastern Star

TO MEET ONCE A MONTH

Similar Clubs Have Been Organized in Other Cities of the State

Members of Alpha chapter, No. 23, Order Eastern Star, at the regular meeting on Monday night, organized the Eastern Star Social Club to meet once each month, in the Masonic parlors, beginning in March, for the purpose of furnishing the social activities for the order. Similar clubs are doing much along this line in other cities throughout the state and it is hoped that the local organization will be just as successful.

The following officers were elected to head the new club:

President—Miss Maybelle Grew-cox.

Vice President—Mrs. R. D. Stitzel.
Secretary-Treasurer—Miss Bessie Paine.

The club is open to every member of the Eastern Star, both ladies and gentlemen, and an effort will be made to include all members of the local order. A small fee will be collected to cover any slight expenses that may be encountered.

It is planned to hold some social function once each month. This may take the form of a dancing party, cards, a musical evening, or similar event. The officers of Alpha chapter will form the committee in charge of the March meeting of the club.

Members of the local chapter are asked to get in touch with the club's officers with a view toward joining the organization and furthering the objects for which it is started.

THE CURSE OF TUT FELL ON THEATER

(By United Press)
London, Eng., Feb. 10.—The curse of the pharaohs took a new victim when an act was omitted from "The Punch Bowl," a revue at the Duke of York's theatre.

A skit was in preparation featuring Miss Gwen Farrar, one of the best of London's music hall stars, in a playlet founded on the life and times of Queen Nefertiti, the mother-in-law of King Tut, who invented the "shingle bob."

First one of the actors fell ill. Then the musicians went on strike. Then the composer quarreled with the director. Finally Miss Farrar herself came down with influenza.

And so the whispers went to work, telling the world that the curse of King Tut-ankh-Amen was getting in its deadly revenge. Whereupon the cast rose en masse and refused to work.

And the skit was removed from the bill.

PROPOSE TO PAY AMATEURS FOR LOST TIME

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)
New York, Feb. 10.—Another row over the subject of pure amateurism will result from the recommendation of Baron De Coubertin, President of the International Olympic Association, that amateur athletes be given compensation for the time lost from their regular occupation while they are competing in meets.

The idea is not new. Sweden expressed approval of the suggestion more than a year ago and although there was a violent protest from other European nations, it was rumored in Paris last summer that the Swedish athletes were getting as much as they would have earned at their regular occupations while they were absent in Paris.

Baron De Coubertin was careful to make it clear that he was voicing a personal opinion and that he was not proposing an official attitude on the question.

Some of the smaller nations might be able to interest more youngsters in track and field athletics if competition could be made financially attractive, but there follows the important question—who would pay them? Most of the European nations now have trouble getting the money to pay the transportation and the mere living expenses of an Olympic team, and even the United States was hard put to it to get funds last summer to send a team to Paris.

Perhaps the generosity of Los Angeles officials is bringing about a change in feeling on the other side. It will be recalled that Los Angeles, in asking for the 1928 games, agreed to transport all the foreign teams to and from Los Angeles, with the freight all paid. It might be that some of the foreign nations, who are willing to concede a few points about amateurism, figure that Los Angeles would be willing to pay the athletes the amount of their civilian salary.

When the international officials were discussing Los Angeles as a site for the 1928 or 1932 games, it was pointed out that Europe would be able to participate only on a very small scale because of the money that would be required to send a team clear across the globe to the Pacific Coast and because of the time that the athletes would lose from their occupations.

European athletes would have to spend about a month making the trip to and from their own port and at least three weeks or a month would be necessary to train for and compete in the games. It is a readily admitted fact that there are few athletes in Europe fixed so well financially that they could forego the pay-check for two months even if it didn't cost them anything to live during that time.

RAY AND NURMI MAY RUN A MILE

PHANTOM FINN AND AMERICAN STAR LIKELY TO COMPETE IN NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 10.—Joie Ray, Chicago star and America's leading middle distance runner, who challenged Paavo Nurmi to run a mile against him, may have his challenge answered next Saturday night in the New York A. C. games.

Nurmi is entered in both the mile and the two-mile events, and he said today he may select the mile if conditions are favorable. His schedule is so heavy, however, that he cannot exert himself too much until his tour is about completed.

Nurmi has approved of a revised program which calls for 17 more races before March 12. The schedule, drawn up by the A. A. U. includes Feb. 28 American national championships, Louisville, Ky., and March 3, Milwaukee.

The renowned runner has an average of a race every other day, a terrific task. Portland, Me.; Buffalo, Syracuse, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Louisville, Milwaukee, Hamilton and Toronto, Canada, are the principal meets carded ending up with the Greek-American games in New York on March 12.

Nurmi receives no financial benefit from these meets except his bare expenses. He came over principally because of the demand from many Finns in this country who wanted to see him run.

Nurmi and Ray will appear in the American Legion games, Portland, Me., tonight—but in different events. The Finn will attempt to lower the 3,000 yards record of 7:58 1-5, held by W. G. George of England. Ray is entered in the three-quarters mile invitation race, against Lloyd Hahn, Leo Larrivee, Tom Clausen and Jimmy Connolly. About 200 college and club athletes will compete.

Energie Gasoline may be secured at Energie Station, Stein's Filling Station, Brandt Bros. Service Motor and Lively Auto Co.

With the Oldtimers

(By United Press)
Cleveland, Feb. 10.—Bob Ewing, former star pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, regarded as one of the best pitchers in the National League in his day, is the sheriff of a nearby county. Ewing has been farming since he retired from the major leagues and has been successful.

DEMPSEY PEEVED AT NEWSPAPER BOYS FOR "HUNTING" HIM

Los Angeles, Feb. 10.—"My heavy-weight title may be sort of a public trust, but my honeymoon ought to be my own," Jack Dempsey, just married, said rather ruefully today.

The champion and his bride, who was Estelle Taylor, put in an appearance at the Midnight Plantation club, a jazz resort near here. They had been dodging newspaper men ever since the main event Saturday night.

Having spent most of the duration of his championship in the company of newspaper men, Dempsey is just beginning to find out how hard it is to get rid of them when he really wants to.

He managed to put in here Sunday with Estelle alone, the newlyweds hiding in the Wilshire apartments here while reporters surrounded his hotel, the Barbara, and his home.

Jack said he probably would take a house in Hollywood, "because we gotta have more room for those two dogs of Stella's." But first of all the champion wants a few days of quiet loafing and a reporterless honeymoon. Reports of his retirement from the prize ring and of a break with Jack Kearns were "just so much bunk," Dempsey reiterated.

Life on Mars

The basis of the belief that the life on Mars, if there is life there, is more advanced than that on the earth, is that Mars is smaller than the earth and must have cooled its surface millions of years before the earth did. Hence, if there is life on Mars it must have begun long before life on the earth and would have had a far longer period of development.

CENTRAL MINNESOTA BASEBALL LEAGUE

OFFICERS FOR NEW ORGANIZATION ELECTED AT ST. CLOUD MEETING

Officers for the Central Minnesota Baseball league were elected, a new set of by-laws adopted and plans for an interesting baseball season formulated at a meeting of representatives of various towns which was held at St. Cloud.

F. G. Brigham of Watkins was elected president of the league, with the idea of having the presiding officer from a disinterested town. Frank Gilley of Cold Spring was named vice president and J. B. Schieler of Richmond was elected secretary-treasurer.

The meeting was attended by William Clute and A. J. Pappenfus, directors of the Little Falls team, and A. A. Hahn and Edw. J. Porten. Mr. Hahn has been appointed manager and Mr. Porten secretary-treasurer of the local team, the appointments being made by the officers and board of directors.

The league by-laws for this year were changed to give each town the right to use players within a 15-mile radius instead of a 10-mile limit as was in effect last year. Little Falls was also given permission to use Stanton of Onamia, who held down a field position for Little Falls last season, as a home player.

After some discussion as to the number of outside players to be allowed each team this season it was agreed that Little Falls and St. Cloud should be allowed two outside players and the other towns three or four. Cold Spring was also allowed one player who is outside the radius but still lives tributary to that town, and Richmond was allowed two such players. All these men played with those towns last year.

A split season was agreed upon. The president was authorized to submit a list of persons available for duty as umpires and each team would be permitted to strike from the list such ones as were not considered satisfactory. Those remaining on the list will be called on for such duty this season instead of obtaining umpires from the Twin Cities.

Changes were made in the rules regarding protests which will in the future require a deposit of $25 with each protest and provides a system of fines when protests are allowed.

Towns which will have teams this season and which sent representatives to the meeting are Cold Spring, Richmond, Clear Lake, Sault Rapids, St. Cloud and Little Falls. An eight-team league has been decided upon and two other towns will be secured within a short time.

The next league meeting will be held at St. Cloud Sunday, March 8. Little Falls Daily Transcript.

Triple Play Not as Odd as During Old Days

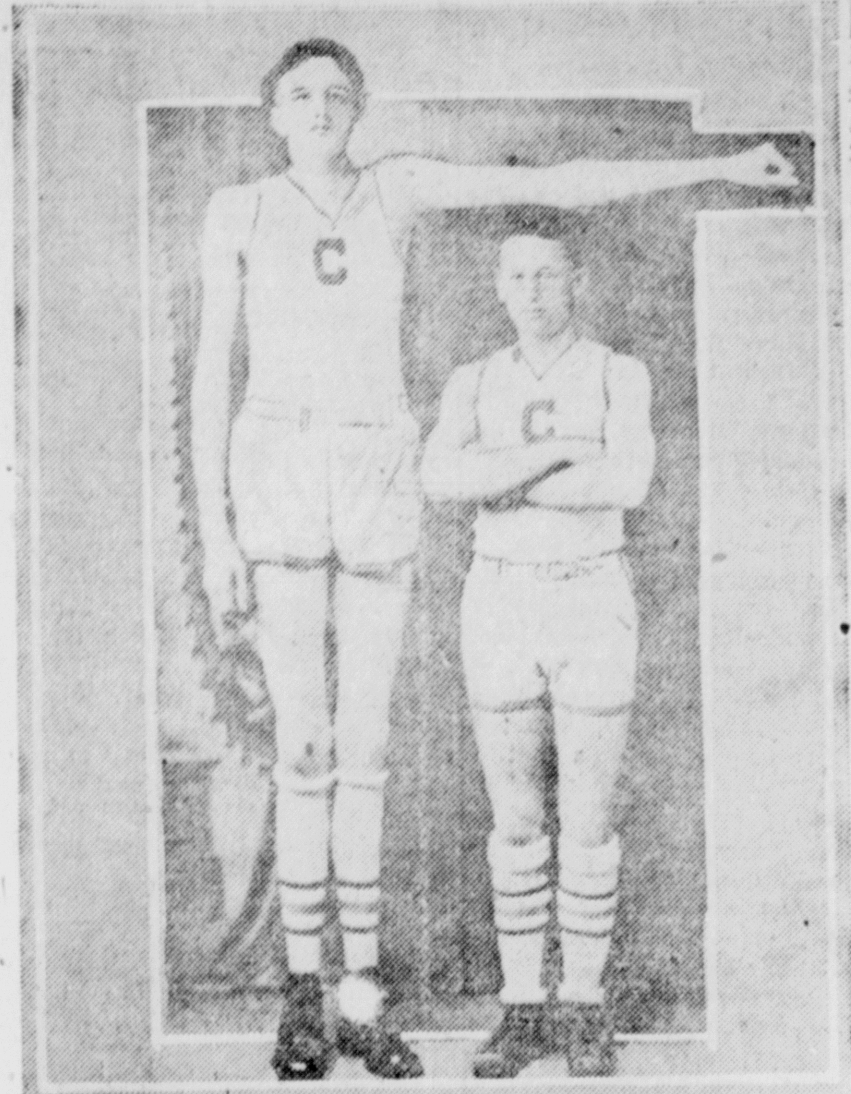

Not so long ago a triple play was considered a big feat. It was looked upon as the out-of-the-ordinary in baseball. It was unusual, as it were. One or two such performances during a season came close to being the maximum.

Times have changed of recent years, however. The old three-play killings aren't quite so unique; they are more common now. Fact is, the play causes but little stir or excitement. The oddity has worn off, apparently.

Last season there were 11 triple plays registered in the major leagues. The American had six of them, the Red Sox topping all clubs with three. A good record, indeed. The St. Louis Cardinals were close behind with a pair.

"SCOTTY", FAMOUS LEAD DOG THAT WON RACE TO SUCCOR STRICKEN ALASKA

"Scotty" lead dog of Leonard Sepalla's champion dog team, is one of the canine heroes of the battle being waged against diphtheria, the "Black Death" that has been ravaging Nome and the surrounding district. "Scotty" led his pack over the frozen trail until Sepalla met Guner Kasson, another famous musher, who picked up the precious 300,000 units of anti-toxin and relayed them to Nome in a bitter storm. Both Kasson and Sepalla are modest heroes and give all the credit to their dogs.

JOINT-EASE for Creaky Joints

Just rub on the new application called Joint-Ease if you want to know what real joint comfort is.

It's for stiff, swollen, or pain-tortured joints whether caused by rheumatism or not.

A few seconds' rubbing and it soaks right in through skin and flesh right down to ligament and bone.

It oils up and limbers up the joints, subdues the inflammation and reduces the swelling. Joint-Ease is the one great remedy for all joint troubles and Johnson's Pharmacy and Economy Drug Co. and other live druggists are dispensing it daily—a tube for 60 cents.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick.

Heat For pain - soreness

Rheumatic pains, soreness, aches, etc., call for heat. The best way to apply it is Red Pepper Rub.

This is the modern way. It so exceeds the old ways that there is no comparison.

Nothing else creates such concentrated, such penetrating heat as red pepper. And heat that doesn't hurt you.

You feel that tingling heat in an instant. In three minutes it seems to penetrate the depths. Circulation is started, congestion is relieved. Pain and soreness go—depart.

What folly it is to suffer pains so easily and quickly stopped. What folly to let a cold in the chest go neglected. When trouble starts at night, what folly to wait until morning.

Keep Red Pepper Rub on hand. Homes which do that save a great deal of pain. Get it now—the very utmost in help of this kind.
